

Relax. You're at the Dentist's.

The goal at Gatlin Creek Dentistry is to provide trustworthy, quality dentistry to all patients. Dr. Shane Whisenant wants all patients to know that they have his full attention and that their care is a tremendous responsibility that he respects. "It is an honor when folks trust me with their dental care, and I am excited to take time and educate my patients by answering all of their questions. Having the trust of my patients is paramount. I have a passion for making people feel better about themselves."

Your dental health affects your overall health, so routine care, like cleanings and x-rays, is very important. If Dr. Whisenant can help minimize the anxiety of visiting the dentist he increases the likelihood of routine care. Routine care fosters optimal oral health, which means less dental procedures. At Gatlin Creek Dentistry, patients are like family and receive the personal service that has been lost over the years. When you enter the door, you are family.

"Often I have patients tell me what they do and don't like about dentistry. I am very interested in listening to what they have to say," Dr. Whisenant says. "I respect the responsibility I have to educate and communicate with the patient. The chance to speak with patients about treatment and ease their minds is entirely dependent on patients gaining the power of knowledge. Knowing what to expect and why treatment is necessary completes the foundation of a confident and comfortable appointment."

Dr. Shane Whisenant grew up in Dripping Springs and is so excited to be back home caring for the folks in his hometown. He attended college at Texas A&M University, earning a BS and MS in wildlife ecology. After working a short time as a biologist, he couldn't shake his childhood desire to be a dentist, so he returned to school. Upon graduating from Baylor College of Dentistry, Dr. Whisenant has been enjoying caring for folks in the dental chair since 2012.

Dr. Whisenant and his wife, Janey, enjoy traveling and staying active outside. In October 2015, they welcomed their first child, Beckham. As Beckham gets older, they plan to be on the move again, whether on mountain bikes, skis, in hiking boots, or visiting new and old places with a new perspective.

"I want to welcome you to Gatlin Creek Dentistry," Dr. Whisenant says. "Please swing by the office and just say hi if you are in the Medical Towers at Sawyer Ranch Road. If you are a patient, I hope it is abundantly apparent how much you and your family mean to me and our team. Providing compassionate care in an engaging and comfortable environment is my goal. Please come see us."
